

Ash Lane Prayer Stations

As you wander the Ash Lane property, you may notice some stakes in the ground. We have put stakes out in approximate locations for where the current plans show different parts of our building will be built, as well as how other parts of the land will be used. Here is a designation with colors of which stakes represent a current guess up locations on the new property.

Invite God to prepare this space, especially, for all who will gather here to feel God's presence and hear God's call to follow.

Children's wing - pink

This is approximately where the children's classrooms will be. As you stop here to pray, remember your childhood.
